

Decolonizing Research on Gender-Based Violence in the Caribbean

Friday - April 14, 2023

10:00 a.m. (EST) Zoom or in person-Falk 411

The Caribbean Community (CARICOM) has long recognized the vulnerability of women to various forms of gender-based violence. Violence against women is detrimental to their health and comes with increased economic, legal, and healthcare costs to their families and the State. Determining how Caribbean women experience, interpret, and respond to violence can be informative in the development of culturally appropriate intervention and treatment programs. Hence, the purpose of this conference is to showcase current research on Caribbean women's experiences of intimate partner violence, cultural norms, socialization practices, beliefs about gender roles, and attitudes about violence.

Organizers:

Ambika Krishnakumar, PhD, Professor, Department of Human Development and Family Science, Syracuse University

Jaipaul Roopnarine, PhD, Pearl S. Falk Endowed Professor, Department of Human Development and Family Science, Syracuse University

Speakers:

Ms. Je'nille Maraj, Regional Program Management Team, UN Women

Ambika Krishnakumar, PhD, Professor, Department of Human Development and Family Science, Syracuse University

Indra Boedjarath, PhD, Psychologist-Psychotherapist and Trauma Specialist, University of Amsterdam

Sireesha Bobbili, PhD Candidate, Program Officer, Global Mental Health, Grand Challenges Canada

Collaborating Institutions: Department of Psychology, Anton de Kom University of Suriname; ANSA McAl Psychological Research Centre, The University of the West Indies, Trinidad and Tobago; University of Guyana Early Childhood Centre of Excellence, University of Guyana; Saving Brains Grenada & Caribbean Center for Child Neurodevelopment

Join ZOOM

Meeting ID: 953 6903 9290

Passcode to Join: 318545

For information - Contact: Kathy Rainone kbrainon@syr.edu